

School for A Course in Miracles

for students and aspiring teachers of A Course in Miracles

LIVING the COURSE: fulfilling our function as teachers of God

Jesus asks us in his course to teach that he did not die in vain but to demonstrate that he lives in us. We do this by asking for his help to see our brothers the way he sees them: guiltless.

Seeing our all our brothers the same is our one and only function as teachers of God. It is how we “live” the Course and save ourselves at the same time. As we see innocence in others we begin to recognize it in ourselves.

“Your way will be different, not in purpose but in means. A holy relationship is a means of saving time. One instant spent together with your brother restores the universe to both of you”. –Text. Ch.18, VII.5:1-3

The focus of this class will be on the practical application of Course principles with Jesus as our teacher and guide.

Materials will include relevant sections from the text, workbook, manual for teachers, pamphlets and selected works from Kenneth Wapnick, eminent scholar, teacher and author on A Course in Miracles.

Lyn Corona began her study of A Course in Miracles in 1976 and has been teaching its message of peace through forgiveness for more than 20 years. She is a founder, Director and faculty member of School for A Course in Miracles, formerly School of Reason.
